

SILENT CONFERENCE Lost in translation?

The multiple channel functionality of Silent Conference headphones means that presentations and videos can be enjoyed in multiple languages simultaneously. Have a speaker not fluent in the language of the country your conference is in or delegates that require assistance? Use either live translators or pre-prepared, multilingual soundtracks.

When it's important and beneficial to share information with a group of mixed nationalities, this is a great solution.

Live translation set up

By using our wireless solution and live translators, it is now easy to deliver presentations to large numbers of delegates of different languages. Using headphones with multiple channels, attendees at your event can select their preferred language. This enables global companies to bring their staff from around the world together, at one event.

Keynote: Main stage

Translations

Channel 1
English

Channel 2
Spanish

Channel 3
French

Delegates can choose from the audio translations provided by switching the channel on the headphones. The headphone LED colour will indicate which language they're listening to.

Pre - recorded translation set up

Prepare pre-recorded translations that can be queued for delivery by your AV team and broadcast to the headphones alongside the seminar. Each channel is dedicated to a language that delegates are able to select during the event.

Channel 1
English

Pre-recorded or live keynote audio source

Channel 2
Spanish

Pre-recorded alternative languages

Channel 3
French

Delegates can select the language in which they want to hear the audio through the headphones
